Indonesia Tax Reform

The predictability of tax regulations and its consistent application are key for all investors. The current government's attempts through Directorate General of Taxation (DGT) to bring greater reforms via simplification, transparency and predictability in the interpretation of tax regulations are well received and seen as a fight against grey economy. Tax Payers are very supportive for the current transformation of DGT and appreciate the willingness of DGT to engage Tax payers. Tax Payers encourage further transformation of DGT in its working methods, to harmonise the enforcement of tax regulations and to ensure its consistent application at the operational level across industries.
